Re: Case Number [REDACTED] – Opposition to Name Change Petition of Christian Walden

Dear Judge Jacobs,

My name is [REDACTED], and I am writing to request that the Court deny the petition for a name change submitted by Christian Walden.

I and others investors, have been victims of Mr. Walden's "investment firm." Christian Walden has made claims of being licensed, bonded and insured, wanting individuals like myself to invest in his investment firm Gold Reverse Fund/Liquid Assets Automation.

Christian Walden promised his investors a guaranteed returns of 2-3% profits daily and big payouts for those who invested a significant amount of money in the very beginning. A promise that has led to significant financial loss for myself and others investors. I believe Mr. Walden have been targeting individuals nationwide being he is on the show on Basketball Wives which as impacted me and several other victims financially. Due to his possible fraudulent activities have raised many concerns to investors and authority, resulting in a FBI investigation into his company and business practices.

Additionally, Mr. Walden seems to not like following the rules and regulations of the law and he is currently on probation.

I am concerned that a name change will allow Mr. Walden to avoid the accountability associated with his current and previous conduct. I feel granting Christian Walden a "fresh start" could enable him to continue defrauding innocent individuals who may not be able to speak or act on getting justice due to financial loss. By changing his name, I believe, Mr. Walden will gain trust of others and will continue financial harm to the public under his new identity.

I am respectfully requesting that this court deny the name objection because Mr. Walden has scammed me out of thousands of dollars, and avoiding service. To allow a name change in the midst of litigation will only make it more difficult for victims like myself to obtain justice.

Thank you for your time and consideration in this matter.
